GAY NEW YEAR EVE.
DIN, SIN, AND GIN.
CHILDREN HAVE NEW GAME.
WHAT, NO MORE WAR?

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright 1929, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE learned Professor James Mackaye, of Dartmouth, brings forth a new theory of the universe, pushing Einstein and relativity into the background.

The universe possesses a radiation of super-frequency and super-penetration, pervading all space.

The ether, which Einstein eliminated, returns but it is a dynamic, not a static ether.

That deep news interests a few. Secretary Mellon says 1930 will be a super-year, money abundant, interest rates low, business good.

That interests everybody, violently.

Infinite time, space and ether will take care of themselves; 1930 and business must be attended to at once.

1930 is four days old.

Not fewer than a million good resolutions have been broken, more breakage will come later. But enough resolutions will be kept to provide the usual annual improvement.

New Year's Eve throughout the country shed the usual light on prohibition, many prohibition raids, many arrests, unlimited whiskey, gin, etc.

A moving picture advertisement invites you to see an all-talking, singing and laughing play that, to quote the promoter, "shows amazingly—Girls to hire for the out-of-town buyer. The road to din, sin and gin." That road is wide open in this year of our Lord.

One newspaper describes New Year's Eve in New York as an effort to drown remembrance of margins wiped out, and in spite of determined efforts of prohibition agents as a "rather dismal but doggedly drunken night."

At parties for young people, and in the so-called "best society," a new game for children is played. The younger boys ask an older boy of sixteen or seventeen "what time is it," and watch the young American hold his wrist watch before his eyes, and weave drunkenly to and fro, trying to focus his bleary sight. This seems delightfully amusing to the young boys.

For real information on youthful drunkenness, ask teachers in leading American preparatory schools. Hill, Grotto, Lawrenceville, Saint Paul's, Choate, etc.

A crop of drunkenness is being bred that will disgrace this country, and injure the young American generation, as oppressive child labor in England injured British youth in the last century.

However, New York, Chicago and other big wet cities are not all of the United States. In other places the nation's work goes on as usual. New roads, factories, dwellings, millions of automobiles are built, industries are perfected, even agriculture makes progress, with better machinery, and government credit.

In Lancaster, Ohio, for instance, Mrs. Vincent Kemp had two sets of twins in 1929. The first pair came on January fourth last. The second on the last day of the year. That is the crop that counts, and neither bootleg liquor nor drugs will ruin it.

But the American rich, bringing up boys to drink vile gin and whiskey, and girls to suck cigarette smoke through painted lips, would feel foolish if they could see their dear children twenty-five years hence.

General Smuts, able South African leader, is here to tell us that world wars are at an end.

Future wars, waged with poison gas and high explosives dropped on cities, with deadly bacteria used to spread devastating diseases, would be aimed first of all at civilians, and armies and navies would play a minor part.

General Smuts says the world would not be so lunatic as to allow such a conflict to begin, but suppose Russia, having successfully completed her program to spend thirty billions and pass the United States in industry, wealth and power, should decide to teach capitalism a real lesson. Or suppose some Asiatic power, annoyed by race discrimination, preparing secretly the necessary airplanes, submarines and chemicals, should set out to rebuke western arrogance.

Belgian Princess On Way to Wedding

Basel, Switzerland, Jan. 4.—The royal special carrying Princess Marie Jose to Rome for her wedding to Crown Prince Humbert on Wednesday arrived here at 10:40 a. m. today after an all-night trip from Brussels.

During the brief stop-over, the Belgian royal family could be seen breakfasting in the dining car of the sumptuous train.

Important Wedding

New York, Jan. 4.—One of society's most important weddings of the New Year will take place here today when Miss Bernice Chrysler becomes the bride of Edgar W. Garbisch.

Fire Sweeps Room In Capitol Building

PORTION BADLY DAMAGED WHEN BLAZE OCCURS

Congress May Investigate Cause of Fire In Next Meeting

ARTIST CARRIED FROM BUILDING

Damage Estimate Varied; May Show Gain After Check

Washington, Jan. 4.—A searching investigation into the cause of the mystery fire which gutted a portion of the house document room and the artist's model room of the National Capitol early last night, was instituted today by David Lynn, architect of the Capitol.

Congress may also be brought into the inquiry as a result of the rumors growing out of the blaze, it was indicated. Lynn expressed the opinion that congressional committees concerned with the management of the Capitol may inquire into the fire.

The damage was variously estimated at from $1,000 to $3,000, but the full extent was not expected to be determined until during the day when danger of seepage of water through the five-foot walls of the Capitol had passed.

Charles Moberly, the Capitol artist, who was carried out of the smoke-filled model room unconscious was reported to be recovering, and Lynn expected a conference with him today to furnish some information which may lead to a definite determination of the cause of the blaze.

The artist was treated by Dr. George W. Calvert, congressional physician, for two hours after he was rescued by firemen. During this period he talked incoherently at times.

STATE AUDITOR GIVES REPORTS

Cash Received by Ohio During 929 Totals $88,333,100.47

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—Cash received by the state during the past year aggregated $88,333,100.47, according to a statement issued by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, Friday.

Of this amount, $51,000,670.32 was expended for general operating expenses of the state government. The state's share of the gasoline tax amounting to $19,931,241.41, spent through the state highway department, raises the total disbursements for the year to $70,931,911.73.

Tracy stated that $10,298,982.01 was spent for new highway construction last year and $14,417,197.39 for maintaining and repairing existing state roads.

During the past year the state distributed $18,168,047.95 of the gasoline tax to the various counties, municipalities and townships and refunded $1,763,193.46 to consumers of gasoline not used by motor vehicles upon the highways, leaving a balance of $618,738.81 which will be included in the next distribution to the local taxing districts.

The state's total bonded indebtedness, $7,500,000, is in the form of world-war bonds. During the year, $2,975,000 was used in retiring world-war bonds and paying interest on them. State aid distributed to weak school districts totaled $4,317,124.14.

Davis; warden, Mrs. Sam Cole; conductor, Mrs. William Schron; outside guard, Mrs. Kittie McDonald; musician, Miss Ruth Hoch.

Installation will claim attention at a meeting in two weeks.

42 MEET VIOLENT DEATH IN COLUMBIANA COUNTY IN 1929; SUICIDES LEAD

Burglars Should Not Make Social Calls

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—A social engagement had today proved the undoing of Phil Eininger, 29, an alleged bandit.

A manager of a Kroger store, whom he had allegedly held up, recognized him at a party here at which they both were guests.

Police say, Eininger confessed the robbery and implicated another man.

SEVEN MEN HELD IN SHOOTING OF DETROIT OFFICER

Detectives Attempt To Obtain Identity Of Gun Wielder

Detroit, Jan. 4.—From the seven men now being held here in connection with the shooting of a Detroit police officer, one is being held in connection with the shooting of a Detroit police officer.

Although heads of the police department refused to divulge any information concerning the seven men who are held, it was learned that four of them are reputed members of the alleged beer-running gang of Joe Mocer.

Garvin, from his cot at receiving hospital, declared, however, that he did not believe these men had any actual connection with the attempt on his life.

"I was pretty tough on those gangsters," he said, "but I don't think they would go that far."

The four members of the Mocer gang include two of the leaders, brothers James Mocer, 22, and Leo Mocer, 25. The other two are Moses Mossu, 20, and Sam Orlando, 23.

Inspector Fred Frahm, head of the homicide squad, while admitting that three others are being held in custody, refused to reveal their identity. He said that five other men had been taken to police headquarters and released after questioning had convinced detectives that they knew nothing of the shooting. Nearly a score other have been stopped on the streets and quizzed about the attack on Garvin.

FACTIONS READY FOR SUGAR WAR

Warm Debate On Tariff Duties Looms In U. S. Senate Ranks

Washington, Jan. 4.—The most important battle over "sweets" ever staged on Capitol Hill loomed on the congressional horizon as opposing factions in the senate prepared for the coming tariff war on sugar duties.

The cost of sugar to the American public, which pays an annual bill ranging up to $1,000,000,000 a year, may be fixed for the future by the outcome of the battle over tariff rates. At least, billions of the consumer's dollars will be at stake.

The proposed plan of Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, to offer an amendment to the pending tariff bill, fixing a bounty on American sugar, may prolong the warfare. Once before, in President Cleveland's administration, the bounty plan was adopted as a means of protecting American sugar producers but it was soon repealed. Borah would attempt the experiment again as the cheapest method of protecting American producers while holding down the cost of sugar to the consuming public.

The importance of the problem facing the senate can be appreciated by the fact that Americans consumed around 14,000,000,000 pounds of sugar annually. One way or another, both sides agree, the price of sugar will be affected by the tariff duties approved by congress.

WILL THE PARTY WHO HAS AUTO LICENSE 563-056 PLEASE CALL AT THE SALEM OFFICE OF THE COLUMBIANA COUNTY MOTOR CLUB. CLUB RECORDS WERE TAKEN WITH THE LICENSES WHICH ARE NOW LEGALLY ISSUED.

Aids Museum

Death stalked rampant through Columbiana county during the year 1929, a total of 42 persons, all but one of them a resident of the county, losing their lives in automobile accidents, shooting affrays, industrial mishaps, and other fatal occurrences.

Here in Salem 12 persons were killed during the year, according to records just compiled. Four of the local fatalities resulted from automobile collisions, three were suicides, two the result of asphyxiation, and one each from burns, drinking of wood alcohol, railroad crossing crash, and accident at home.

Suicides led the list of fatal deaths throughout the county, 10 dying from self-inflicted gunshot wounds and hanging. Pedestrians struck by automobiles, unusually low this year, were second, nine being killed, while six others met death in miscellaneous automobile accidents.

Violent deaths from other sources follow:

Coasting accident, two; electrocuted, one; thrown from roller coaster in amusement park, one; murder, two; death from burns, two; thrown from railroad car, one; bathing accident, one; automobile-train crash, two; death from dog-bite, one.

One of the two murders occurred in Lisbon, Christy Bazzara, 37-year-old railroad worker of that city being the victim, last month. The other slaying occurred on the streets of Wellsville, Mrs. Mildred Wilson, 22, being the victim of bullets fired by her husband, Frank Wilson, 26, who then turned the gun on himself, inflicting wounds which resulted in his death. This occurred June 24.

The only single accident which occurred in the corporation limits of this city which resulted in two deaths occurred at the Deming company foundry, two employees of the concern being asphyxiated by fumes in a cupola on February 5.

None of the 12 deaths occurring here during the entire year necessitated any criminal action, all, except one, being suicides.

MAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF HAVING LIQUOR

Police Believe Prisoner Was Selling Near Memorial Bldg.

William Landenberg, Sharp, 31, was arrested by Patrolmen Jesse Gray and Ralph Stoffer on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors, shortly after midnight, today.

Landenberg was arrested near the Memorial building, East State st., where he had been under suspicion of selling liquor to patrons of a dance in progress at the community center.

Several bottles partly filled with liquor are reported by Police Chief T. W. Thompson to have been confiscated.

Landenberg will be arraigned before Mayor John M. Davidson this afternoon. He will be the first liquor law violator to face the new executive this year.

Lee Gordon, Canton, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor when arraigned before Davidson Friday afternoon and was fined $100 and costs. He is being held in city jail pending payment of the fine.

Ray Gordon, also of Canton, pleaded guilty to intoxication and was fined $5 and costs. He paid the fine and was released.

The two men were arrested Thursday evening after the machine alleged to have been driven by Lee Gordon, is said to have backed into and knocked over a mail box on the corner of Elma st. and South Lundy ave.

Bomb Blast Claims Third Victim; Arrest Expected

Seat Pleasant, Md., Jan. 4.—Death claimed another victim of the New Year's day Christmas package bomb outrage early today when four-year-old Dorothy Hall succumbed to her injuries at Sibbey hospital, Washington. The death toll is now three.

Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 18-year-old expectant mother, for whom the package was intended, her 19-month-old brother, Samuel, and little Dorothy.

Mrs. Nora Hall, Naomi's mother, one eye gouged out and suffering from stomach injuries, is at Providence hospital in Washington, and physicians fear for her life. Leslie Hall, 16-year-old son, who lost two fingers, is out of danger. The 86-year-old mother of Mrs. Hall, has been discharged from the hospital and is said to be recovering from shock and slight injuries which she suffered.

The Baltimore detectives, Lieut. H. Eisel and Serg. Charles Schalter, began last night a check up of all the evidence Police Primrose has gathered, and they expect to make an arrest today.

DIVERS SEARCH FOR BODIES OF PLANE VICTIMS

Seven of Fox Film Men Locked In Charred Plane Cabins

THOUSANDS WITNESS ATTEMPTS AT SEA

Hollywood Mourns Death of Cameraman; Director's Wife Prostrated

BULLETIN

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 4.—In the hope that the seven missing bodies lie within the twisted, charred fuselages of the two moving picture cabin planes that carried 10 to their deaths, naval mine layers today were to attempt to haul the wreckage to the surface.

Mine layers hold the two smashed planes at the ends of grappling chains which reached over 300 feet to the ocean floor.

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 4.—While thousands lined the sea cliffs to watch divers fought help beds 250 feet beneath the sea in search of the bodies of seven Fox Film staff men, locked in the charred cabins of their two wrecked airplanes.

The diving tug, in charge of naval officers, tossed on the restless sea, a quarter mile off Point Vincente. Around them clustered scores of launches, manned by friends and relatives of Kenneth Hawks, film director, and his six staff men.

Over the grim scene, the sun glinted on the wax-like wings of half a dozen scout planes and the bulbous figure of a blimp.

As the sun's rays slowly penetrated the deep toward noon trained, observers aloft tried to pierce the submerged grave of a movie adventure more gripping than the thriller the ten dead men had sought to portray.

The rescue work, like the tragedy itself, set new precedents in history. The collision was the first in recorded history between two passenger planes. It was the first air craft collision over water.

It was the first time deep sea divers had been called upon to rescue the bodies of the victims of an aerial accident.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 4.—Beside Love screen star, was a sufferer from the camera plane air tragedy that cost the life of her new brother-in-law, Director Kenneth Hawks, Mary Astor, wife of the dead director, was prostrated at her home.

William Ballinger Hawks and Miss Love, his bride of a week, were in seclusion, guarded by relatives while they sought to compose themselves after learning of the tragedy.

PANIC VICTIMS GIVEN BURIAL

Flags Fly at Half-Mast As Scotland Buries Disaster Victims

Paisley, Scotland, Jan. 4.—Fifty little victims of the terrible panic which resulted in the deaths of seventy children at the Glen Cinema here on New Year's eve, were buried with separate services here Friday.

The fifty funeral processions lasted for five hours. Each body was carried to its final resting place in a tiny white casket, while the sad interment.

Flags throughout the town were flown at half-mast, while church bells tolled a solemn dirge. Business was suspended.

The remaining 20 victims of the tragedy will be buried today.

Meanwhile investigation into the disaster was being pushed by authorities from London. The manager of the cinema, Charles Doward, is under arrest, charged with culpable homicide.

Resignation Taken

London, Jan. 4.—Cardinal Gasparri's resignation from his post as papal secretary of state was accepted by Pope Pius XI today, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome.

Burbank Hi School Players' Bus Struck By Train At Shreve

Nine Others Injured In Crash; 2 Expected To Die; Team Had Defeated Big Prairie And Was On Way Home

Wooster, O., Jan. 4.—The joy of a basketball victory turned to the deepest sorrow at the village of Burbank near here, today, as it prepared to bury seven of its young boys, members of the high school basketball team, who were instantly killed late last night when the bus in which they were riding was struck by a fast Pennsylvania train at the Shreve crossing, near here. Nine other children were seriously injured in the accident.

First reports of the tragedy said that it occurred during a sleet storm. There were no witnesses on duty every night. They get results.

A high wind was tearing through the countryside at the time, however, and it may have prevented the driver of the bus from hearing the blasts of the train whistle and the crossing warning bells.

All of the bodies were badly mangled and identification was not made until today. The dead are: Willard Baker, 14; Claude Repp, 16; Forest Grubb, 17; Wilbur Grubb, 16; Forest's brother; Wayne Lehman, 15; Emil Timie, 16; and Eugene Talley, 17.

Nine Are Injured

Edith Repp, fractures of both legs, possible internal injuries, which will probably cause her death. Charles Packard, back injuries and severe bruises. Donald Lehman, severe cuts and bruises. Alice West, body injuries. Ellen Cowhick, serious cuts and bruises. Lola Talley, a sister of one of the dead, broken leg. Grace Flory, badly cut and bruised. Maurice Lenz, coach of the basketball team, scalp injuries. Joseph Baker, 55, a driver of the bus, serious cuts and shock.

The bus, which was filled with basketball players of Burbank High school and the rooters, was returning from Big Prairie. The Burbank boys had won a 36-to-23 victory.

Had Won Victory

They were happy. The joy of victory surged through their veins. The rooters and players were singing. The night's stillness was broken by their shouts of laughter and cheers. They turned to screams and moans when the bus was struck by the train and was tossed 100 feet. The seven boys were killed instantly. Others lay about the wreckage, some pinned beneath it.

Two separate investigations were under way today. Coroner J. B. Patton (Continued on Page 4)

TEN PERSONS ARE HURT AS BUS CRASHES

Vehicle Skids Across Ice Road Into Truck's Path

Bellevue, O., Jan. 4.—Investigation was started here today in the bus crash, late yesterday, in which ten persons were injured, four of them seriously.

The bus, a jack-rabbit lines motor coach, plunged into a four foot ditch, after having skidded on an ice-coated road and collided with a heavy truck.

According to witnesses, the driver of the bus put on the brakes in order to avoid hitting an automobile ahead of him. In doing so, the bus skidded, swinging the rear of the coach into the middle of the road and into the path of an eastbound freight truck. The truck smashed headon, plunging the bus off the road into the ditch.

Four of the injured passengers were taken to Bellevue hospital where they were treated for injuries at the scene of the crash. There were more than 40 passengers in the bus.

The four taken to Bellevue hospital are: Mrs. Martha Morris, 72, of Detroit; Mrs. Lois Ordway, 24, of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Earl Pohl, 25, of Astoria Pa., and Peter Galindo, 31, of Detroit. All are expected to recover.

Missionary Speaks At Meeting Soon

Rev. J. Stewart Kunkle, D. D., Presbyterian missionary in Canton, China, will speak at the Salem Presbyterian church Wednesday evening.

Dr. Kunkle has been in China since 1905. He went there shortly after the outbreak at Lienchow, which resulted in the death of a number of missionaries.

Before leaving for the United States this year Dr. Kunkle was asked by the Kwangtung synod of the Church of Christ in China to speak in its behalf while in this country. His home is at Salsburg, Pa.

Columbus, Jan. 4.—A robber who has been given the cognomen "the leatherbag hand" made a pair of visits to filling stations last night and escaped with $63 in his leather bag.

STORM DELAYS SEARCH IN AIR

Alaskan Blizzard Holds Fliers To Earth; To Await Weather

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 4.—Below zero temperatures and a fierce Arctic blizzard threatened today to postpone the relief flight of two cabin planes to join the search for Lieutenant Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, mechanic, who disappeared in the Arctic wasteland.

The two pilots, Pat Reid and Matt Niemetzen, plan to take off for Nome, Alaska, as soon as the storm abates. At Nome they are to receive instructions as to the territory to be searched for the two airmen.

Doubt was expressed here as to whether Pilot Clifford Swartman, who crashed his airplane in a take-off Thursday, can repair his plane in time to join the search.

Reid and Niemetzen will have James Hutchinson, a mechanic, for a companion on their flight to the schooner Nanuk where the search centers.

Eielson and Borland were last seen between Telier, Alaska, and North Cape, Siberia, when they were flying provisions to the ice-bound Nanuk.

The Railway Age will say in its issue of Saturday January 4, that orders placed by the railroads during the present year were the largest in five years, and offer statistics to back its assertion. It will go further and publish information submitted to it by railroads having half of the mileage of the country and doing more than half the business on which it will base an estimate that the aggregate expenditures of the country's roads for equipment and improvements in 1930 will be approximately $1,050,000,000, or twenty-five per cent more than their expenditures for such purposes in 1929.

The number of locomotives ordered in 1929 was 1,197 against 603 in 1928. Of those ordered 926 were built as compared with 590 the previous year. During 1929 the railroads ordered 111,218 freight cars, 82,240 of which were finished and turned over to the roads. The preceding year but 51,200 freight cars were ordered and 46,060 were completed.

Thus it may be seen that twice as many freight cars were ordered in 1929 as in 1928 and almost twice as many delivered. It may be said in passing, that the passenger cars ordered by the roads in 1929 were 2,299 as compared with 1,930 in 1928.

We are not offering the foregoing figures simply as railroad statistics, although they doubtless will be interesting as such to railroads, but rather to show the business outlook for a prosperous year in 1930 for locomotive and car works.

Locomotives to the number of 271 and 28,978 freight cars ordered in 1929 were not built within the year, and thus their construction will give a fine start for the new year. This business, augmented by the new orders for construction estimated for 1930 should keep locomotive and car shops active for the next twelve months and assist materially in maintaining prosperous conditions.

Employment conditions among stonecutters will be bettered by the passing of General His Highness Proraj Nepal Taradish Maharaja Sir Chandra Shumshere Jung Bahadur Rana, the premier of Nepal.

What Others Say

YOUTHFUL OCTOGENARIAN

Because its cars are not attuned, the present generation has not appreciated the efforts of Robert Bridges, poet laureate, to introduce a new sense of quantity in English poetry. Mr. Bridges has achieved his effects by imitation of classical meters and in this "high empire" has been more successful than two other notable experimenters, Tennyson and Swinburne. But we of this day and generation have been more interested in the variations accomplished in music than those accomplished in poetry. Only the mind can dance to poetry, and perhaps our feet are more active than our minds.

But Mr. Bridges' latest essay in revealing the technical resources of English poetry arrests the attention even of this impatient generation. The poet laureate is now eighty-five years old, and yet, with the spirit of youth, he indulges in new adventures in prosody in his latest poem, "The Testament of Beauty," which has just been published by the Oxford University Press. He employs the poetical line of six iambs, the Alexandrine, with which other English poets have seldom been fortunate, but which is the line used by many French poets with great success.

"The Testament of Beauty" will never be popular. Despite its richness of thought it will remain essentially a technical achievement. It has many innovations, such as adapting the spelling to the meter and doing away with the capital letter at the beginning of a line except when the line begins a sentence. Mr. Bridges has written essentially for the ear rather than for the eye, and while the strange aspect of his page may invite many intelligent readers, it will repel the majority who are accustomed to the form in which our poetry has been written for centuries.

To many the most interesting phase of the poem will be that it was written by an octogenarian in the apparent spirit of youth. Perhaps more revealingly, volume of poetry has appeared since Cowley and Wordsworth published "Lyrical Ballads" in 1798. Whether the effect of "The Testament of Beauty" will be as permanent is doubtful. To our opinion it has fallen on partly deaf ears. It will remain an experiment in prosody. But it may prove a poem for poets and find metrical echoes among many future versifiers who will popularize the medium of this noble work. To most of us Robert Bridges will remain the writer of shorter poems like "Nightingales," "A Passer By," and "On a Dead Child," rather than this volume which attests not only his mature thought but his spirit of prosodic adventure. — Cincinnati Times-Star.

The Stars Say —

For Sunday, Jan. 5

Sunday's horoscope holds promise of success for all that pertains to the clergy and to all elderly persons and institutions. These should flourish as should employment, industry and labor. Mystical writings should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of recognition and substantial reward for diligence, application and faithful endeavor, especially in the interests of elderly persons or institutions. Promotion and preferment are in prospect for those in employment.

Writings of a peculiar or mystical nature should have success. A child born on this day should be industrious and hardworking and should win the regard and solid reward of its superiors, especially if these be elderly persons or establishments. It will be disposed to be studious and introspective and may make a success of some unusual or mystical literary product.

For Monday, Jan. 6

Monday's astrological map holds mutual aspects stressing somewhat singular or unconventional developments in the personal relations. There may be a sudden change or journey in connection with these, or there may be spectacular experiences of a domestic, social or romantic nature. There may be some benefits to be reaped and in a business association some substantial new arrangements may be made.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of peculiar or entirely unforeseen developments in their personal affairs. Their domestic, social or romantic nature. There may be some benefits to be reaped and in a business association some substantial new arrangements may be made.

DON'T LET WEATHER DECIDE VENTILATION

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Winter days seem to have a really beautiful and tonic effect upon humans. If we would harden ourselves physically by vigorous exercises in the open air, and build up the tissues of the body so that we had proper resistance to the cold then the winter months would be most beneficial to us.

DR. COPELAND

You make your home safe for winter. You overhaul your heating plant, and you see that your house is in condition. You stock up on winter clothes. Why not take inventory of your health? Have a physical examination?

Everyone should have a physical examination every so often. Have a physician look you over. He may find you "sound as a nut," or, if you have some slight difficulty that needs correction, you will be, or ought to be, very glad to know it.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is only too true in this respect.

It won't so long ago that people were afraid of night air and sunshine. Even today some have an aversion to open windows at night in their sleeping rooms. Everyone should know that wide open windows at night are health-giving and health restoring. Cold air, wet air and wind are tonics for the well person.

Cold air, wet air and wind—they are all good for us. Everyone should get the habit of being outdoors in the sunshine at least an hour every day. Even the mothers and housewives who find their day's work almost more than they can cope with, owe it to themselves and their families to get out of doors part of every day in the year. If a day comes when you cannot get out of doors, open the windows wide for a few minutes at a time and air your living rooms. Let the invigorating winter air flood your rooms from five to ten minutes and see how much better you will feel for it. It is a scientific fact that letting stale air escape from a room really creates a condition the better to warm it.

There are tonic effects of cold on a healthy body. All the organs of the body, the heart and the arteries, feel the thrill. The circulation in the brain is stimulated. You feel a sense of well-being. You can think better.

When you enter the warmth of indoors, the blood surges back to the skin in a warm glow, your entire body feels invigorated. If you walk for an hour or two daily, you will never find fault with the house temperature if it goes down to 60 degrees.

While the fresh, cold winter air is most invigorating, do not forget the beneficial effects of sunshine. There is an old Italian proverb, "Where the sun does not go the doctor goes." Well, that is only too true. Sunshine is essential to human life and health. The vital resistance of the body is greatly influenced by the number of hours one spends each day in the sunshine and open air.

Why not have radiant winter health?

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Jan. 4, 1910.)

The month of December, 1909, was the coldest December for the last 17 years, with but one exception that of December 1903.

Reports compiled by the railroad departments of the Pennsylvania railroad system show that since their establishment some 23 years ago, there have been paid in benefits, the sum of $7,258,152.81.

D. D. Kirby met with a painful accident Monday while alighting from the Garfield ave. street car in front of his home. He slipped on the icy pavement, spraining his wrist and cutting his face.

In its financial and industrial edition on New Year's day, the Pittsburgh Dispatch used a story of the growth of the National Sanitary Manufacturing company's plant in this city.

New York—Eight hundred employees of the New York Central railroad were retired today on pension. Mayor Al Carlisle, Director of Service James McNeelan and Director of Safety George Hack met in the mayor's office Monday evening and organized the city board of control. The present water situation called in for a long discussion.

Columbus—The construction of new roads will be revolutionized under a bill which will be introduced in the general assembly.

Mary Louise and Leora Astor, who have been ill of scarlet fever are improved.

Announcement was made Tuesday of the marriage of Miss Estelle Chamberlain of Salem, and Don Baird of Canton, which was an event of New Year's evening at the home of Rev. W. L. Swan, the officiating clergyman.

Three sled loads of relatives and friends went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Noid on New Year's eve and surprised them in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Wilbur T. Smith returned to Cleveland to resume his duties at Western Reserve university after spending the holidays at his home here.

THE GREATEST

CHEVROLET

IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety.

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements found throughout the entire design.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six is available—

- at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents.

PLANE SQUADRON TO AID CUSTOMS IN DRY WARFARE

Newport, R. I., to Combat Liquor Smuggling by Airplanes

OFFICIALS OPERATE OWN PATROL BOATS

Secretary of State Will Be In Charge of New Activities

Newport, R. I., Jan. 4.—Liquor smuggling at this port will be combatted by a large "flying squadron" of customs officials operating their own patrol boats and under the direction of the office of Secretary of Treasury Andrew J. Mellon at Washington.

This became known Friday afternoon when Frank J. Finnegan, deputy collector of customs at Boston, who has been conducting an investigation here since the Black Duck killings by the coastguard, summoned a squad of customs men to this district.

The new "rum patrol" to stamp out the smuggling from the sea will not be under the jurisdiction of the coastguard but under that of customs officials.

Word from Providence stated that the bullet-riddled Black Duck had arrived from New London, Conn., coastguard base and had been turned over to state authorities for inspection and use at the inquest into the killing by coastguardsmen of three of the four men aboard the alleged rum running cruiser. Names of the crew of the patrolboat were turned over to Attorney General Oscar L. Helzlsouer by United States Attorney Henry M. Boss Jr. The coastguardsmen probably will be summoned to testify at the inquest when sessions are resumed Monday.

Believe Parley In London To Be Long

Washington, Jan. 4.—Indications that the London navy conference may be a long-drawn-out affair were seen here when it became known that Secretary of State Stimson has leased a house in England for the duration of the parley.

Stimson has taken Warren House at Stanmore, in Middlesex, and plans to spend week-ends there. It is quite probable that Warren House will see many important conferences, far from the inquiring newspaper correspondents in London. The estate is about an hour's motor drive from London. It has a private golf course and is owned by Sir Maurice Fitzgerald.

Marshal Sues For Return of Liquor

New Philadelphia, O., Jan. 4.—

Marshal Charles Dreher, of the Village of Strasburg, near here, wants the beer and wine which dry raiders confiscated when they swooped down upon his New Year's eve party. His attorneys filed suit for the return of 75 bottles of beer and seven gallons of wine, charging that it was Dreher's personal property and that the dry agents had no right to confiscate it.

He also asked for the dismissal of the liquor charges against him. At present, he is at liberty under $1,000 bond.

Bill Plans Felony Charge For Agents

Washington, Jan. 4.—A bill to make federal prohibition agents who violate search-and-seizure provisions of the law guilty of a felony is being drawn by Rep. John C. Schafer (R.) of Wisconsin, and will be introduced in the house next week.

"Agents who violate the law in conducting illegal searches should be guilty of a felony," said Rep. Schafer, "just as the man who sells a drink of liquor. We should play no favorites under the prohibition law."

Andrew Mellon Declares Force Necessary To Break Up Liquor Smuggling On American Coast

Washington, Jan. 4.—"You cannot break up liquor smuggling without the use of force."

This statement was made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in explanation of the "Black Duck" killings off New London, Conn., by U. S. guardsmen, and the killings aroused so much furor that a mob tore down coast guard recruiting signs on historic Boston common.

"The coast guard apparently was operating within its instructions," said Mellon, "but an independent investigation has been ordered into all the circumstances." Mellon also revealed that advance information had reached the prohibition authorities that efforts were to be made to land liquor at the point where the "Black Duck" was heading for on the night in question, and that this accounted for the presence of the coast guard forces there.

"No information so far has been received which does not entirely justify the efforts of the coast guard to prevent the Black Duck from reaching the shore," Mellon asserted.

Authorized To Use Force

"Instructions have been issued by the treasury against promiscuous shooting. However, the coast guard, under the law, is authorized to use force to capture violators of the law and if, in pursuance of that obligation, it can not shoot when necessary, it can not carry out its duty."

"In the recent shooting the crew of the boat gave the proper warning and gave pursuit to the vessel which was attempting to escape. It was necessary to use force. On the boat was carried a large quantity of illicit liquor."

"The coast guard had been instructed to prevent smuggling and to use force when absolutely necessary. It is the coast guard's duty to capture boats which are attempting to smuggle liquor and smuggling can not be broken up without the use of force."

"The department had information that liquor was coming in and concentrated a coast guard force to prevent it. The boat, which sought to escape was pretty well in."

Shooting Justified

Mellon referred to the shooting as "unfortunate" but felt it was "entirely justified."

Discussing the general prohibition situation, Mellon said he had been informed by prohibition officials that the regulation of industrial alcohol is "well under control."

This is in direct contradiction with the claims of Senator Borah and others that alcohol diversion constitutes one of the principal problems of enforcement.

Illicit distilling of liquor and smuggling from Canada and other foreign countries, constitute the principal enforcement problem, according to Mellon. He said it was because of smuggling that the coast guard drive had been organized.

PRINCE ENROUTE TO AFRICA FOR BIG GAME HUNT

Wales To Resume Tour In Wilds; Crowds Gather At Stations

Southampton, Eng., Jan. 4.—The Prince of Wales sailed aboard the Union Castle liner, Kenilworth Castle for Cape Town, South Africa, on a hunting tour, Friday afternoon. From Cape Town he will journey to Nairobi, East Africa, where he will resume the big game hunt which was interrupted in December 1922, by King George's serious illness.

Although he traveled from London to Southampton in the regular boat express train, crowds gathered at the various stations enroute in the hope of catching a parting glimpse of the prince as he passed. Another crowd was on hand at the pier to cheer him on his way and to wish him God speed.

London, Jan. 4.—Bound on a hunting trip in the wilds of darkest Africa, the Prince of Wales left London Friday with an utter absence of formality.

The prince embarked at Waterloo station here for Southampton, where he will board the Union Castle liner, Kenilworth Castle for Cape Town, South Africa.

A huge crowd gathered at the station to bid the prince farewell and cheered him loudly as he stepped from his limousine at the entrance. Accompanied by his equerries, he walked swiftly to the station platform, acknowledging the cheers with a wave of his hand.

The prince journeyed in an ordinary first-class compartment of the regular London-Southampton train. His luggage, which consisted mainly of hunting traps and an arsenal of guns, had been loaded into the baggage car prior to his arrival.

Other members of the royal family, including the Duke of York, Prince George and the Duke of Gloucester called upon the Prince of Wales at York house Friday morning to bid him good-bye. He had bid farewell to the king and queen at Buckingham Palace Thursday night.

ALLEGED ROBBER DENIES CHARGE

Toledo Man Pleads Not Guilty; Bound Over On $15,000 Bond

Bowling Green, O., Jan. 4.—Charles Poulin, 34, of Toledo, pleaded not guilty to bank-robbing charges when he was arraigned here Friday. He was bound over to the grand jury under $15,000 bond.

Poulin, according to police, was one of the three men who held up the bank at Bradner, near here, September 16 and escaped with $1,200 in loot.

He is also suspected of having a part in the looting of the Stony Ridge State bank and the Rising Sun State bank.

H. A. Forrier, cashier of the Bradner bank, failed to identify Poulin as one of the participants. Edward Metzger, a farmer, who resides near the bank, positively identified Poulin, however, as the man who sat in the automobile in which the bandits effected their escape.

R. W. Burke, 31, who is under arrest in Toledo on charges of possessing burglar tools, is also alleged by police to have been one of the bandits who looted the Bradner bank.

The bank at Rising Sun was held up twice within the past four months. Loot of $3,600 and $1,600 was obtained on each occasion. The Stony Ridge bank was robbed of $1,600.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Jan. 4.—The show-your-face hat is a significant factor in the season's mode which will certainly persist through winter to spring.

One milliner, who is largely responsible for a number of sensations in the hat line, is showing it in a bonnet type of dark purple with the deep flounce of hand-knitted wool folded back and encrusted into the felt crown. It falls loosely at the sides and over the back of the neck. Hand-knitted and crocheted wools and silks, draped on beret lines, are also worn off the face. There is also a chic corduroy beret from Reboux, worn by many smart women.

Crossed bands of black satin ribbon secure the upturned brim of a chic black felt hat. They pass through slits on the temples, crossing again at the back of the neck.

The cloche is still the favorite with many women, but it is the show-your-face variety, as well as the cloche with a great big difference for the brim is front is very short, often quite negligible, but widening at the sides and back where it is kept very close to the face by means of pleats or folds. An interesting development comes in black felt with gooseneck ribbon. It has the brim completely cut away to show the forehead but widens at the sides and covers the back of the neck with a low sweep.

Trimings, aside from the combinations of materials, are largely confined to jeweled pins and discrete patterned fancies, such as one moderate brings back the use of small birds and wool flowers.

Madison, Ind.—With the dedication of a bridge across the Ohio River from Madison to Milton, Ky., ferry service in existence for 123 years here ceased. Directors of the ferry company are preparing to sell two large ferry boats, the Fronah M. Coats and Henry Watson. Engines alone of the boats are said to have cost $10,000.

Salem chapter No. 334, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Masonic temple, East State st.

Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Sturgeon returned Saturday morning from Cincinnati where they spent the holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Atty and Mrs. Ralph R. Caldwell.

Webb Mulford, of Salem, is among the new students admitted to Ohio State university, Columbus, for the winter quarter, which begins Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cobb and daughter Dorothy have returned to their home, North Broadway, after spending a few days with relatives in Cleveland and Rocky River.

Mrs. L. M. Spencer and Mrs. R. N. Farmer returned to Cleveland Saturday morning after spending a few days with their mother, Mrs. Elma Farmer, North Elsworth ave.

Mortimer Gibbons, of Winona, has been called to Barnesville by the illness of his parents.

Ohio Man Arraigned On Year-Old Count

Uhrichville, O., Jan. 4.—Frank Pongletti, 34, of Barnhill, was arraigned on a first-degree murder charge here Friday afternoon in jacket of the peace court in connection with a slaying which occurred more than a year ago.

Pongletti was arrested last yesterday afternoon in connection with the killing of Charles Egan, 30, former stable boss at the Midvale Coal company mine, near here.

Egan was found with a bullet hole in his head September 27, 1928.

Police refused to disclose what evidence they have against Pongletti.

Ticket-Scaoping Hit In New Plan

New York, Jan. 4.—A plan to reduce the evils of ticket scalping is to be submitted to the producers and managers of Broadway's seventy-one legitimate theatres. The plan, abolishing the outright purchase of tickets by agents and making it impossible for brokers to collect a surcharge exceeding 75 cents, is the first step in a drive to protect the public from an evil which managers declare the chief cause of existing poor business.

Lincoln, Neb.—Hogs that attacked him caused the death near here of Banks Altstadt, three-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Altstadt. The youngster toddled into the hog pen and was set upon by the vicious hogs.

Cairo.—In the women's prison at Manichah there are 483 prisoners, of which 315 are under sentence for doing up and peddling. Of this number 90 per cent are addicts of heroin while the rest use hashish or cocaine.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Now is the time when a flavory baked ham is especially welcome. Its initial appearance provides a pleasant change from too much turkey. And an almost new ham in the ice box provides the wherewithal for many delightful, last minute meals.

Whether the ham has a specially fine flavor depends considerably on the liquid used for basting. In the old days, the affluent householder used Madeira, sherry or champagne, which imparted to the meat a most delicious savor. Nowadays we use fruit juices or cider, and some spices with a result quite as good.

Baked Ham

1 large ham
1 onion
1 carrot
1 tomato
2 oranges
1 lemon
3 cups of cider
1 cup of hot water
Whole cloves
Fine cracked crumbs

Place the ham in a roaster with the sliced onion, carrot and tomato, and pour over the juices, strained oranges, lemons and the other liquids. Bake for several hours, depending on the size of the ham, allowing about 30 minutes to each pound. Baste frequently with the juices. Keep the roaster covered. When tender (which will be at the end of four or five hours, more or less) remove the skin. Sprinkle with cracker crumbs, a little sugar, and a few whole cloves. Place under a broiler to brown, turning on all sides. Skim and strain the gravy, thicken with a little flour

Late Supper Ham
2 tablespoons of butter
1 tablespoonful of made mustard
5 tablespoonfuls of catsup
1 teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce

1 cupful of grape juice
Sliced ham
Rounds of toast

Melt butter in a large saucepan, add seasonings and when well heated through add the neatly sliced rounds of ham. Toast rounds of bread in the oven and place a slice of ham evenly on each piece of toast, cover with sauce and serve hot.

Breakfast Ham
1 tablespoonful of made mustard
2 tablespoonfuls of lemon juice
1 teaspoonful of sugar

Thinly sliced ham
Brown the thin slices of ham in the frying-pan, then remove to hot plate. To the ham juice in the pan add the above ingredients and when well blended, pour over the ham.

Ham and Mushrooms—
A Luncheon Dish
2 tablespoonfuls of butter
1 tablespoonful of flour
2 cupfuls of milk
1 cupful of mushrooms
1 green pepper
1 pint of cream

Melt the butter and cook the mushrooms until tender. (Mushrooms may be cut into small sections or the caps and stems left whole.) Add the chopped green pepper and parsley. When soft, thicken with flour dissolved in cold milk and stir smooth. Last, add the cream. Serve in a little ramekins, sprinkled with a few bread crumbs and browned under a broiler. Or merely pour on toast points, garnishing with parsley or slices of Celebration of the Holy Eucharist and sermon 11:30. Monday, Jan. 6, is the Feast of the Epiphany which will be appropriately observed at the services Sunday morning.

The festival of the Epiphany provides us with some of the most striking illustrations of how, behind the Order of the Episcopal church, there lie the beliefs and practices of primitive antiquity. The actual history of the day is somewhat obscure. In the earliest times the visit of the Magi was a phase of the Christmas festival, and was commemorated at the same time as the Nativity. The twelfth day after Christmas, both rounded off the Nativity rejoicings and introduced the next stage in the sacred seasons, in which we have presented to us the various aspects of the manifestation to men of the divine power and nature of Christ. This manifestation began with the Baptism of our Lord, and in very early times that event was specially kept in view today. But further the manifestation of Christ as ushered in by the miracle at Cana. The day has borne three names indicative of these three manifestations. It has been known as "Theophania" as Epiphany and as "Bethphania" which means Manifestation of Godhead in Nativity and Baptism. Manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles, and manifestation at the house, as at Cana.

Hosiery Production Increases In U. S.

Washington, Jan. 4.—America's hosiery bill was bigger in 1929 than in the preceding year, while the production of more than 500,000,000 pairs of socks and stockings was 4 per cent greater, according to Commerce department figures.

Short skirts and the well-known tendency of women's silk hosiery to develop these very annoying "runs" kicked the stocking bill a few million dollars higher. However, during the year probably cost the public about $300,000,000 at retail.

Coast Guard Chief Warns Rum Smugglers

A blunt statement that the Coast Guard "means business and cannot stop smuggling of liquor with soft words and amiable gestures" was made by Rear Admiral Frederick C. Billard, the Coast Guard commandant, upon being informed that three men had met death at the hands of his service while attempting to run liquor into Narragansett Bay.

TWO HANGED IN STATE PRISONS

California Convicts Pay Penalty On Gallows For Slayings

Folsom State Prison, Cal., Jan. 4.—The first of three men to be hanged in California prisons on "Black Friday," Tony Brown, one of the leaders in the bloodiest prison break in California history, went to his death on the gallows here yesterday.

The trap was dropped at 9:03 and he was pronounced dead 11 minutes later.

Immediately after Eddie Stokes, Los Angeles bandit, was led from the "back alley" to follow Brown to his doom.

Meanwhile at San Quentin prison preparations were completed for executing Louis Laxarus, "bad man" and killer, for complicity in murdering William McFarlin, a teller, in an Oakland branch bank robbery in July 1928.

It was the first time in history at which executions have occurred at the state's two prisons on the same day.

Brown and Stokes were the first of the six riot chiefs to pay with their lives for causing the slaying of nine fellow prisoners and two guards in an uprising on Thanksgiving Day, 1927.

Brown, his face pale as death, was led to the gallows by Turner Walter Neil whom he crippled for life with a bullet through the knee in the mutiny.

Brown died silently, a cigarette in his lips. Not a word did he utter from the time he left the death cell till the trap was sprung.

There was no prison chaplain there to give him spiritual consolation that he had sinned. So had Stokes. They were "tough guys" and wanted none of this "religious stuff" they had told the warden.

Stokes plunged through the gallows at 9:27 and seven minutes later was pronounced dead by prison physicians.

NOTICE: I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by my husband Alexander Fratila.

DEATHS

MRS. MARY HARTZELL

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary E. Hartzell, wife of Jesse M. Hartzell, who died Thursday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Earley, at Beloit, was held Saturday afternoon at the Beloit Friends church. Interment was in the Hartzell cemetery, North Benton.

Mrs. Hartzell had been ill for a long time.

Mrs. Hartzell was born in Beloit, November 1, 1850, the daughter of L. B. and Hannah Votaw Stanley. On August 13, 1871, she was married to Jesse M. Hartzell. During the Civil war she did much to help the Union soldiers at the front. Until her marriage she was a member of the Friends church. Since then she has been a member of the Presbyterian church.

She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. J. S. Courtney and Mrs. L. J. Earley at Beloit; one brother, Levi Stanley, Beloit; and two sisters, Mrs. M. A. Houck, of Beloit, and Mrs. E. Myers, of Murry, Iowa. She is also survived by five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Alliance High Trims Salem Tossers In Bitterly Fought Fray

Red And Black Offense Weakens In Last Part Of Tilt; Plays Tonight

Alliance High secured ample vengeance for the 7-0 defeat sustained from Salem High's great football team last season, handing the Stone-men a 24-17 setback in one of the most bitterly fought conflicts ever played between the two rivals at the Red and Black gym Friday night.

A slow-forming offensive attack again proved fatal to the Red and Black and only six baskets were scored from the field against the classy defensive tactics displayed by Coach George Wilcox's Red and Blue invaders.

Salem failed to display the same scoring attack that predominated in its style of play last week against Massillon but the defense which it bucked up against in the Alliance lads was much stronger than the Massillon quintet displayed. With the difference in the strength of the two opposing defenses considered, the Red and Black was not far inferior in its play against Alliance than in the game a week ago.

Bill Smith, who has proved the Red and Black's scoring ace in almost every game played up until last night, and who held an average of 16 points a game, was held to a lone field goal, but it was not because he lacked scoring opportunities. The entire offensive attack which previously hinged on Smith's performance from the field, was off-style, if the Massillon game might be considered par for Salem High's performances on the hardwoods.

Alliance Scores First
Windland tall Alliance center who played fullback on the grid team that was victimized so decisively by the Red and Black last season, started the scoring with a short shot from the foul line and Greenisen covered the count with a long attempt that soared through without touching the backboard. Both teams countered back and forth in vain efforts to break through the other's defense and missed long chances galore from a distance.

Glenn Whinnery, Salem captain, tried four wild whiffs at the hoop from past the center mark during the quarter but failed to register. Play continued for five minutes without either team connecting until Smith whizzed the leather through from the center mark. Smith fouled Dunn on a following play, Dunn scoring the shot. Windland fouled Whinnery but the Salem skipper missed and the quarter ended, Salem ahead by a 4-3 score.

Dann eluded his guard at the start of the second period and scored a bucket from the side. Ed Beck broke up his dribble on the next play and dribbled the entire length of the floor to give Salem a 4-8 lead with a neat shot after the shot was off. Windland speared away from Whinnery, nabbed a perfect pass from Hammontrée, and scored the goal which gave Alliance a one-point lead. Hammontrée passed again, this

Alliance Trims Salem Reserves

Invaders Easily Annex 21-10 Decision From McCord Tossers

Alliance reserves easily defeated Salem High tossers 21-10, at the Salem High gym Friday night.

The game was closely contested in the first two quarters but Alliance forged ahead to a decisive lead in the third period that the Salem lads were unable to overcome.

McCord's men were able to score only two goals in the first quarter while Alliance scored twice from the field and once from the foul stripe and the period ending, 3-2, Alliance on top.

The Red and Black staged a slight comeback in the second quarter, holding the Red and Blue tossers to three points while it gathered in three baskets from action and a foul. The score at the half found Alliance ahead one point.

Alliance, though, ran wild on the home town lads and gathered in 13 points while the best Salem could do was to score once from the foul line. The visitors were held scoreless in the last period while Salem scored twice but the disaster had occurred. Summary follows:

OOSTERBAAN MAY SPEAK AT HIGH SCHOOL MEETING

Hennie Oosterbaan, one of the greatest football ends of all-time, is scheduled to speak at the general assembly of Salem High school students next Friday. It was announced yesterday at the high school.

Oosterbaan's appearance here is as yet not an absolute certainty but arrangements are being made to secure him for the assembly.

He was a star end at Michigan, gaining an All-American award for three consecutive seasons, being named on Grantland Rice's teams for two years straight. He also starred in basketball, being recognized as one of the Big Ten's leading eagers in his day.

High Maidens Win Verdict

Red and Black Sextet In Easy Victory Over Alumnae Team

Coach Anne Oelschlaeger's Salem High maidens broke into the victory column for the first time in four games, defeating Alliance tossers, 18-12, in a preliminary tilt at the Red and Black court last night.

The high school hardwood artists had an easy time of it with the older lassies after the first two periods, scoring 12 points in the last half against seven by the opposing set.

The scholastic crew found difficulty in getting started, lacking a strong offensive attack and was unable to score even the easiest range of shots from action. The ex-highs led by a 4-3 score at the end of the first quarter and the score stood tied at 6-all at the end of the half.

The injection of Anna Zelle into the fray in the early part of the third period seemed to serve as a proper incentive to the high squad's morale and the team started a barrage of shots from all corners of the Alumnae team's territory that the opponents' defense was unable to fathom.

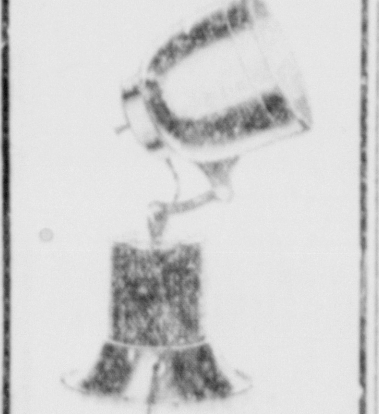

With Burt and Lutsch delivering the leather to Zelle and the latter miss potting them in from various points of vantage, the decision soon turned high school-wise. It was Miss Oelschlaeger's team's second win this season. Summary follows:

THE DAY In Sports

SALEM TEAM IMPROVES ART SHIRLES SUSPENDED TWO GAMES TONIGHT

The Salem High varsity in holding Alliance High to a 24-17 score last night, proved that it is not the worst team ever to represent the Red and Black and gives every indication of developing into a strong opponent for the district's leaders before the season closes.

The team again had a strong third period but finished weak and had only an average start. The scoring power which was so glaringly apparent in the Massillon game last week was almost powerless against the strong defense put up by the invaders.

Alliance looked like a strong team. In De-men it has a strong floor worker and a threat from any part of the floor when it comes to scoring. He led the point making last night with 13 markers. Hammontrée is hard to better as a back guard, and Dunn and Windland are both smooth-working players who would be able to earn places on the majority of scholastic varities in this district.

Salem gets a chance to break into the win column again tonight, both

It pays to go to the Buick Dealer

Two used cars may look much the same from the outside. Mileage, model, tires and general appearance may be all about alike.

Yet there may be a great deal of difference nevertheless—a difference in mechanical condition which will soon show up in actual driving.

You have only the word of the dealer to go by.

That's why it pays to go to the Buick dealer. You can rely on what he says. And you may be sure his price is fair.

Editor Speaks At Grange Meeting

C. F. Christian, editor of Farm and Dairy, Salem publication, discussed "Grange Publicity" at the afternoon session of the Mahoning county granges officers' conference Friday at Greenfield grange.

There are eight granges in the county and all but one was represented.

Plans were discussed for grange work this year and one of the features will be a candle lighting exchange. V. E. Crouse, of North Lima, representing the state grange started the exchange at this meeting by lighting the pomona candle. The pomona master lighted Ellsworth grange candle. Ellsworth grange will go to Milton grange in a few weeks to continue the exchange and present a program. The plan will be continued until all granges have been visited.

Brown Endorsed By County Committees

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown was informed that three Republican county committee—those of Adams, Montgomery and Scioto—have adopted resolutions endorsing him as a candidate for another term as secretary of state.

Candidates for state offices will be nominated at the statewide primaries next August, subject to the regular election next November.

Brown, a former lieutenant governor, is serving his second term as secretary of state.

Boy Scout Troop Sponsors Feature At State Theater

Marion Davies in "Marianne", Morton Downey in "Lucky In Love", "Hearts In Exile", starring Dolores Costello; William Powell in "Four Feathers."

These are the headlines which will appear at the State and Grand theaters next week. Selection of the leading vehicles out of the quartet of great features is difficult. Reviewers of pre-showings of the shows have all been unanimous in their favoritism towards all of them.

Members of the Charles H. Carey post No. 56, the Amvian Legion Boy Scout troop are sponsoring the showings of "Marianne" at the State three days starting Thursday. The scouts plan the organization of a drum and bugle corps and hope to raise sufficient funds for the purpose of purchasing necessary equipment from proceeds of this great war vehicle.
